

Natural Lore Practitioner

Specialising in Nutritional Cannabis

BENCHMARK CERTIFICATION – Nurtured Evolution since 2014

This highly unique 12 module Dynamic Learning Certification for Cannabis Client Care, was created to ensure that those dedicated to plant medicine gain highly beneficial attributes and skills, to assist those choosing nutritional cannabis for their optimum health and well-being.

It is our ultimate duty of care.

The course was formulated over 10 years, recognised by the distinct need for well qualified, compassionate and dedicated practitioners to join in a professional collaborative field of plant medicine. In this field, the collective knowledge, support and inspiration is shared for the benefit of Clients, Practitioners and the community as a whole.

This Certification recognises and acknowledges a high standard of practitioner-ship on many levels including personal attributes, client care philosophy, applied education, collaborative abilities and a dedication to a life of learning.

This course is by invitation or expression of interest only, and considers natural and learnt attributes, skills and qualities that ensure a high standard of client care is maintained and improved upon.

The role of a Natural Lore Practitioner;

- To have an innate calling to participate in a new paradigm aligned to preserving the natural world and all that it contains and represents.
- To ensure continued Client Care is of the highest quality and duty of care is paramount within the framework of Practitioner responsibility and Client responsibility.
- To have substantial/recognised experience with holistic health & wellness care or an extreme personal desire to learn and integrate this into existing skills and experience.
- To undertake learning outcomes and assessment benchmarks to remain accountable for maintaining optimum client care and contribute information for the greater/shared learning
- To be informed and inspired by continual learning through direct experience with clients' process and shared information with fellow practitioners
- Practitioners are not required to have Medical, Science or other standard Qualifications however if these skills are available then these can be positively utilised for individual client care protocols, and also to assist other Practitioners with that particular skill or vocation.

The 12 Modules and the 12 Natural Lore

1. Natural Lore Wellness Philosophy The Natural Lore of Bliss

The foundation of our philosophy is the essential understanding to remember you are Nature itself - not disconnected from it nor above it or even connected to it. You are it. Through this recognition lies a path for living transformation both for yourself and the clients in your care.

2. Plant Medicine The Natural Lore of Release

This Module explores; Teacher Plants, the history of Cannabis, innate wisdom and the attributes of cannabis

3. Endocannabinoid System The Natural Lore of Harmony

This Module provides knowledge of the Endocannabinoid System, and how the elements found in the whole cannabis plant, naturally interact with this system.

4. Oil & Formula Making The Natural Lore of Restore

Presented by BJ Futter – Church of Ubuntu

This module ensures that Practitioners are both knowledgeable and confident in the oil making process and creates the foundation for understanding Whole Plant and Full Spectrum formulas.

5. Nutrition The Natural Lore of Balance

This module reflects on the role of nutrition in our recommended protocols. It includes knowledge and basic guidelines to assist clients to understand the importance of this component for sustainable change for optimum health and wellness.

6. In-house Products The Natural Lore of Flow

This module is an overview of standard products and services that are available for clients, and interacting with fellow Practitioners in a collaborative client care approach

7. Medical Terminology made easy The Natural Lore of Clarity

Presented by Dr Andrew Katelaris

This module is designed to support Practitioners understanding of standard medical terminology including clients' diagnosis, medications and treatment practises. Dr Katelaris also explores a holistic approach to enable each person to be supported on an individual level, according to their unique needs and circumstances.

8. Client Communication and Data Collection The Natural Lore of Creativity

This Module addresses the roles and responsibilities of both Practitioner and Client to ensure clear communication is adopted from the beginning of the relationship. It also defines the importance of recording valuable information from each clients experience, for on-going learning and improving existing practices.

9. Consultation Process The Natural Lore of Rhythm

An essential reminder of why we are all in the field of Plant medicine in the first place – to assist the unique human being in front of us. This module extensively covers the elements required by both Practitioner and client, throughout the entire consultation and support process.

10. Protocol Criteria The Natural Lore of Purity

This is a key module in relation to creating uniquely tailored protocols for client care. It includes exploring the rationale of every component of the suggested protocol prior to forwarding recommendations. It also encourages a collaborative approach with fellow Practitioners, who may offer other skills and attributes to assist particular client needs. Protocols must always adhere to the highest standard of client care.

11. Sustainability Platform The Natural Lore of Vitality

This module introduces the relationship between ourselves and nature, and how this is represented as a sustainable model. Sustainability, in this instance, refers to the whole and considers all people and elements involved in maintaining personal and environmental well-being now, and into the future.

12. Self-care The Natural Lore of Unity

Left until last this module is possibly the most essential information of all. Due to the nature of this work supported by the philosophy of NLW as living transformation, self-care for Practitioners allows the opportunity for this transformation to consciously occur and be witnessed as it unfolds. In turn this translates and is transmitted to the client in many ways and on many levels and encourages the client to do the same.
